"LAWS THAT ARE WRONG MUST BE CHANGED"

He made the greatest sacrifice while battling bigotry,
For, with his life he paid the price so mankind could be free,
The obstacles that formed his plight he fought to overcome,
With all his heart he vowed to fight for all, not just for some.

Though insurmountable the odds, with inner strength he tried,
For, in his mind the will was God's, and right gave might inside,
He felt the sting of many blows, quite often he was jailed!
The fire within him always rged to break the shackling chains,
And fiercely was the struggle waged in hopes of grasping gains,
Bold Martin .Luther King held high the rights he sought to win,
He preached it's wrong to judge one by the color of his skin!

The specter looms, disturbingly, that anyone's fair game,
As long as one remains not free, it threatens all--the same,
A great man died for liberty, in tribute may we pause--
Are we so blind as not to see humanity--his cause?

Dr. King Believed In Togetherness

By Pete Britten

January 15, 1982 is a special date because it commemorates the birthday of a great American Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., who held steadfast to visions of togetherness for all people in his beloved country.

The unselfish civil rights leader was a native of Atlanta, Ga. where he grew up and attended public schools. After completing Morehouse College in 1948,he continued a pursuit in the field of religion. Dr. King graduated from Crozer Theological Seminary in 1951 and earned a doctorate in 1955 from Boston University.

Highlights of his ministry included a pastorate at the Dexter Baptist Church in Montogomery, a position as president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference and president of the Montgomery Improvement Association.

In the variety of responsible civic positions thta he held, he advocated social change that wsa fundamentally rooted in the Christian ethic. Throughout his entire life as a combined spiritual and civil rights leader, he fully embraced the philosophy of love for one's neighbors as fellow human beings. King's outreach to others focused on unity, brotherhood and respect for human dignity. He was a staunch advocate of nonviolence.

His crowning, historic outlook - for Americans was shared with a throng of fellow citizens from a variety of hues and creeds on August 28, 1963 in Washington

On that memorable day, he delivered his famous "I have A Dream" message that climaxed with resounding echoes of freedom.

"When we let freedom ring, when we let it ring from every village and hamlet, from every state and every city, we will be able to join hands and sing in the words of that old Negro spiritual: "Free At Last. Free At Last. Thank God Almighty, we are free at last."

Dr. King visualized togetherness in America through a concept that he described in one of his books as "The World House." In his ideology, he reflected, "We have inherited a large house, a great 'world house' in which we have to live together-black and white, easterner and westerner, Gentile and Jew, Catholic and Protestant, Moslem and Hindu. "Listen for him in the protest of the poor...Look for him in the places where social evils are non-violently resisted by proud brave people. Listen for him in the ever increasing chorus of committed individuals.

Remember him as a man who tried to be a drum major for justice, a drum major for peace, a drum major for righteousness. Remember him as a man who refused to lose faith in the ultimate redemption of mankind."

Arm yourself with a Dr. King arm ban

By LeRoy Green

It has been 14 years and the U.S. Congress have not declared the birthday of Dr. Martin Luther King, a national holiday. It is amazing that a great leader, a man of peace, who received the Nobel Prize for peace isn't duly recognized for his contributions. His contributions not only liberated minorities but all people. He looked beyond all cultural, color, racial boundaries to see a better tomorrow.

His life was dedicated to working for civil and economic rights for all.

I believe in Dr. King's dream.

I armed myself approximately three years ago because of our nation's inability to honor Dr. King as a national holiday. I have free arm bands with his name which I will pass out at 3rd and Union January 15. I also need your signatures to send to U.S. Congress urging them once again to honor him that his life and death wasn't in vain.

Gen. Price to Speak At Madigan

This year Madigan Army Medical Center plans to commemorate Dr. Martin Luther King's birthday in two ways. The first activity scheduled is a breakfast to be held in the MAMC Dining Facility.

The second tribute to King's memory involves a guest speaker engagement slated at noon on January 15 in the Madigan Chapel. Coming from Washington, D. C. to address MAMC attendees will be retired Brig. Gen. George B. Price, who as an infantry officer in the Army served 28 years.

He is a native of Laurel, Miss. and was previously assigned as assistant division commander of the 1st Armored Division, U.S. Army, Europe. Once chief of staff of the First Army, Ft. Meade, Md., Price received his undergraduate degree from South College. He later earned a master of science degree from Shippensburg State College. Among his awards and decorations are the Combat Infantry Badge with star and the Parachutist Badge. He was the recipient of the Legion of Merit, Meritorious Service Medal, Commendation Medal and the Purple Heart.

The guest speaker also attended the U.S. Army Command and General Staff College and the U.S. Army War College. His present job as a civilian is director of Government Operations with the Tech-Dyne Corporation, located in Alexandria,Va.

¾His theme for commemorating Dr. King's life will be "I am very proud of this nation's hero." He made distinguished contributions which will eventually be measured commensurate to the progress that we continuously make toward making his dream reality."

TO BE EQUAL

By John Jacobs

It is fitting that this, my frist to Be Equal column be devoted to the man who has, for the past ten years, written this column--Vernon Jordan.

I was somewhat amused to find newspaper and broadcast accounts of his resignation from the National Urban League describing Vernon Jordan as a "black leader."

The appellation is an indication of the nation's obsession with defining the limits on black achievement. Jordan, of course, is a "leader" with no qualifiers necessary. I never see the term "white leader" used, so why limit the scope of national leaders who happen to be black?

Yes, Jordan was a major spokesman for civil rights but his leadership ranged beyond that to advocacy for all of America's poor and advantaged. The organization he headed, the National Urban League, has its roots in the black community. But it also serves other minorities and addresses issues of vital importance to all citiziens of all races, issues such as the fate of urban American.

It was Vernon Jordan's hard task to be an advocate for policies that help minorities and the cities during a period when the national mood was slipping into what he called "the new negativism."

Many people who supported desegregation in the South were now fighting it in their own home towns. Ardent civil rights supporters drifted away to other movements, or simply dropped out of the fight for social change.

Jordan's leadership spanned the period of Nixon's "benign neglect,"the flounderings of the Ford and carter Administrations, and the current Administration's overt hostility to long-standing socil and civil rights gains.

Civil rights leadership in the sixties also had a tough fight, but the enemies were clearly identifiable---segregation laws, howling mobs, and club wielding bullies in sheriff's uniforms. The enemies of the seenties were deeply rooted intangibles like inflation, a sluglish economyu, and irrational fears.

Victories were harder to come by as the national consensus in favor of greater eroded gains in employment and much else. The shrinking national economic pie made people meaner, more selfish, less willing to open opportunities for groups previously excluded.

Despite that negative turn Vernon presses on, holding successive administrations and thesociety as a whole accountable to America's ideals and constitutional guarantees. His forceful advocacy raised high a flag of protest around which others could rally.

Despite the hostile atmosphere , Vernon Jordan made a difference. He made a difference in his articulate advocacy. And he made a difference in expanding opportunities for many people even in a time of national withdrawal.

His vehicle was the agency he headed, rebuilt and honed to a greater state of efficiency, the National urban League. It is too little recognized that each year some one and a half million people come to Urban League offices in search of jobs, training opportunties, health cre, housing and other concerns, and for aid and counsel.

Vernon's career spanned the frightening days of southern resistance to civil rights when he confronted raw power and defeated it through the even greater power of the law;the exhilarating days of civil rights victories in which he was responsible for registering some two million southern blacks whose voting rights had been denied% through the war on poverty, and distinguished service in behalf of the black colleges.

Capping that extraordinary career with a decade of leadership at the National urban League, he now moves on to the practice of law, something he has always wanted to do. Given his eloquent advocacy skills, I know he will be a great success. With his great leadership skills, Vernon Jordan will continue to be a positive force in our nation.

WOMEN SPEAKS

By Valarie Gordon

Hi. I'm Ruth, a 25 year-old mother of two, who happens to be black and unemployed. Mr. Reagan, I've been wanting to meet you for a long time--not out of anger or spite---although I have a right to be--but just to tell you a few things about the other half. You know, with you in Washington and all, it seems you become hard of hearing when poor folks speak. However, a miracle takes place right in time to listen To Mr. Chairman of the Board of a big oil company or General Whoever of the Pentagon. Thet get the bucks while us poor people get poorer.

I understand Mr. President, that you're under alot of pressure to keep your big campain promises of balancing the budget. But Mr. President try to understand me and millions of others who struggle to feed our children and keep a roof over our heads I don't have much experience but I use to work as a switchboard operator in the city. I got minimum wage of 3.35 an hour, working part-time and at all times of the day, from graveyards to split-shifts. It was extremely hard to find a baby sitter and when I did, I could hardly pay her.

On the average, I worked, let's say, 30-35 hours a week including Saturdays and Sundays. I brought home $95 a week. From that, Mr. President, I paid $250.00 for rent, utility bills and the babysitter, $30.00 a week. You got a college degree, Mr. President, add it up. That don't leave much for luxuries like food, bus passes and clothes. But I'm strong and we survive, barely.

But then, Mr. Reagan, a friend of mine on welfare told me about the benefits she got. After standing in line two days, I found out I could ger $200.00 in food stamps along with $400.00 a month. Including in this would be medical benefits and not having to work. I could save a great deal in baby sitting fees. So I quit my job and got on welfore. It's just as well too, 'cause the day I quit, I got a registered letter saying if I didn't pay my back union dues, I would be fired anyway. I hate doing this, but I had no other alternative. I wanted to improve myself, so I could get a new and better job, but Mr. Reagan you cut out a great deal of money for education and job training. In addition, I just read that although inflation is rising, the minimum wage stays the same this year. For the past five years, it had increased automatically on Jan.1. Matter of fact, Mr. Reagan, you have cut big money out of all of these programs; Social Security, Food Stamps, Day Care, Affirmative Action, ect. ect. And yet, Mr. President, your Reaganomics have increased the funds to the Military, what is it, 1.5 trillion dollars over the next five years?

And boy, wasn't your Christmas speech touching! I saw it on TV. You told us to buckle down and to "be encouraged, we can surpass these hard times in the true American Fashion." It's hard for me to agree with you Mr. Reagan, while I eat tuna fish for Christmas and you enjoy a fat juicy turkey on your $200,000 china.

I would go on Mr. President, but I sense you're having those hearing problems again. Just remember, like peanuts, one can choke on jelly beans, too!!! Nice meeting you, Mr. Reagan.

Scriptures

Psalms
121

"I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help. My help cometh from the Lord, which made heaven and earth. He will not suffer thy foot to be moved; he that keepeth thee will not slumber. The Lord is thy keeper; the Lord is thy shade upon thy right hand. The sun shall not smite thee by day, nor the moon by night. The Lord shall preserve thee from evil; he shall preserve thy soul. The Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in from this time forth, and even for evermore.

Founder's Day

The Altheimer Memorial Church of God in Christ will observe it's annual Founder's Day services in honor of Bishop R.E. Altheimer, beginning Tue., Jan. 19, thru Friday, Jan. 23, with a dinner banquet Sat., at the Diamond Jim's resturant, and ending with the BURNING OF THE MORTGAGE! Sun., Jan. 24, at 3:30 pm. The services will begin each evening, Tues. thru Fri., at 8:00 pm.

Bishop R.E. Altheimer came to the city of Tacoma in the year of 1945, and began having services in a house on South 29th and Kst. He always had a desire for the best for the Saints of God, therefore he was not satisfied with holding services in a house, but kept his desire before him, until God gave him a nice place to worship, which is the present location at 1121 south Altheimer street, formerly 1121 S. Gst.

In 1979, the members of the Altheimer Memorial Church of God in Christ, and the community petitioned the city council, of Tacoma and was suddessful in having G st., from 11th to 13th St. re-named in honor of Bishop R. E. Altheimer, namely Altheimer street.

Bishop Altheimer, life touched many people in this city, including city councilmen, judges, lawyers and even people of a different faith, and all over the world, as he had several servicemen to come and worship under his pastorship, and was shipped different places.

Bishop Althemier was successful in his pastorage, and lived to see God bless eight churches grow out of his church, and they are; The Jersualem, Bishop T.L. Westbrooks, The Truvine Church, Eld. Leo C. Brown, The Greater Joy Church, Eld. James Watson , The House of Prayer, Eld. George Jackson, The Faith Temple, Eld. N. Kinlow, The Eastside Comm., Eld. Alfred Davis, Edwards Temple, Eld. Edwards, and Maranatha Church, Eld. A. Miller.

Truly Bishop Altheimer lived the life of a Christian gentleman, and his family and friends will always miss him.

Prayer Poem

Philip Doddridge (1702-1752) was a leading Presbyterian clergyman in England. None of his poetic works were collected during his lifetime, but they were published after Doddridge's death by a friend in 1755.

The prayer poem, "O God of Bethel, by whose hand" reflects the strong evangelical feeling of God's central place in His world and in our lives. □

O God of Bethel, by whose hand
Thy people still are fed;

Who through this weary pilgrimage
Hast all our fathers led:

Our vows, our prayers, we now present
Before thy throne of grace:
God of our fathers, be the God
Of their succeeding race.

O spread thy sheltering wings around,
Till all our wanderings cease,
And at our Father's loved abode
Our souls arrive in peace!

The Lord has led me through another year in and out of Tacoma amid cries of joy and tears. Cries could be heard from every side; for those who had not, cried out from needs, while those who had, cried from fear - fearing they might loose what they had in the process. Still it was a year of education, growth and development for most, with me being the chief of that group. But I've always loved Tacoma, and hoped for a better year.

So, with the opening of the New Year, all the closed portals of limitations shall be thrown open. I shall therefore move through them to vaster fields, where my worth while visions of life shall be fulfilled.

Then Tacoma:

Let us forget the sorrows of the past and make up our minds not to dwell on them in the New Year.

With determination and unflinching Will, let us renew our lives, our good habits and our reason for success.

If last year has been hopelessly bad, The new year must be Hopefull Good!

HAPPY NEW YEAR TACOMA!!!

Shopper Alert

Last week, at a local supermarket, potatoes were selling for 89¢ for a 5 pound bag, 99¢ for a 10 pound bag, and $1.98 for a 15 pound bag. Which size bag was the best buy?

The 10 pound bag was obviously the best buy. It is so obviously the best buy, that you may wonder why I even mention it. But consider, if it is so obvious, then why did the store offer these three different sizes at these prices? The store didn't think that you would think it was obvious at all!

One shopper, when asked why she was buying the 5 pound size for 89¢ when she could buy 10 pounds for 99¢, replied that she couldn't use 10 pounds of potatoes, and they would probably spoil before she could eat them. This makes a certain amount of sense, but she hadn't considered all the ways she could use fresh potatoes. Had she thought about making a potato salad, or hash browns, or french fries? How about giving half of them to a friend? Even though she normally had no use for 10 pounds of potatoes at one time, when the price was only a dime for twice as much, how could she NOT take advantage of the savngs?

One key to savng money on food is to try to cook what is plentiful and cheap. In this case, potatoes in the 10 pound size were plentiful and cheap, and should have been used as much as possible.

Shopper alert is brought to you by the Community Food and Nutrition Program, a project of the Metropolitan Development Council.

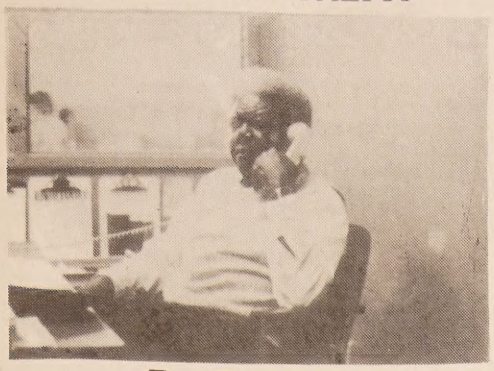
COMMUNITY ENTERTAINMENT



By Roger O.

We are making an effort to bring more programs and entertainment to the club in order to maintain the excellence that we feel will benefit your child and all the club members. Therefore, as Program Director, I must oversee programs and special events to support the membership needs. The following entertainment programs have been revised in 1982 with your support.

Beginning Sat.,Jan. 16,1982, Bandstand Disco is being introduced for the first time for youths ages 7 to 15 years of age. The time is 5:00pm to 8:00pm. Through the staff research, we found that it benefits the youth and the parents if we develop a reasonable time to have your child home after a dance or activity.

Saturday, January 30, 1982 the dance will be for youths 16 to 20 years of age, from 9:30pm to 1:30am. The club asks that you keep the youth who are 7to 15 years old home that night as they will be turned away and not be allowed to enter.

The club invites more parents, guardians or household adults to come and assist in chaperoning. The club feels your presence and support will curtail your youngster coming home late at night and telling you he/she has been to the Al Davies Boys' Club dance or activity.

THE AL DAVIES BOYS' CLUB IS CONCERNED!!!!!

"Afro-Cuban Dance and Rhythms," a new course beginning at Tacoma Community College Jan.7, offer participants some lively post-holiday exercise and a chance to learn new dance skills.

Afro-Cuban dancing, which combines the rhythms and steps of African and Caribbean dance, will be taught Thursdays from 5:30 to 7 P.M., Jan. 7-March 11, in Bld. 21 at TCC. Fee for the self-supporting non-creit class is $28.

For further information call the TCC office of Continuing Education at 756-5020. Registration may be completed at the Admissions Office in Bld.2 on the TCC campus.

Mr. & Mrs. Wilbur Bolton

One of the outstanding affairs of the holiday season was the party hosted by Mr. and Mrs.. Clarence Martin, and Mrs. W.P. Stafford, on Sunday, December 27, honoring visitors from Los Angeles, California.

Honored guests were Mr. and Mrs. Duke Woods, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Bolton. Mrs. Bolton is a niece of Mrs. Stafford, and grew up in Tacoma, where she raduated from Stadium High School. Later, she lived in Seattle, for many years; friends remember her as Mrs. Everett Davis.

Mr. Woods is a native of Washington, having been born in Yakima; his parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Woods. The Woods and the Boltons spent the holidays in Seattle, visiting friends and relatives. They were the recipients of many honors during their stay.

Out-of-town guests at the affair, besides many friends from Seattle, were Mr. and Mrs. James Taylor, of Portland, Oregon, and Mr. Wendell E. Casson, of Northridge, California, grandchildren of Mrs. Stafford, as well as the houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Harris, also from Los angeles, and Mr. Terry J. James, nephew of Mrs. Finky D. Smith.

A free one-day workshop for people interested in starting or operating a successful business of their own will be conducted by the Small Business Adm. in cooperation with the Seattle Public Library. The workshop will be held at the Seattle Public Library, 1000-4th Ave., Auditorium, Wen., Jan. 20, from 9:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Registration will be handled at the door.
